

What you can expect during a crisis at your child's school:

- ★ The school emergency response plans will be implemented and the incident command team will respond according to the plan and as trained.
- ★ Both 911 and the school district office will be informed and will respond quickly and effectively to ensure the safety of all students and staff.
- ★ All appropriate emergency response agencies will be dispatched to the school, as needed.
- ★ Depending on the situation, all students and staff will be secured within the school building(s) or evacuated to a safe location.
- ★ Parents will be kept informed on the situation with as much detail as possible to ensure the safety of all students and response personnel.
- ★ A written explanation of the crisis and the response will be sent home with students as soon as possible.

Successful, safe and effective schools are also those with high levels of parent and caregiver involvement. You are vital to your student's well-being and safety. Help us keep schools safe by staying informed and talking with your child about school safety and emergency response. Please talk with your school about any concerns that you or your child have about school safety.

How will the school respond when an incident occurs?

Depending on the nature of the incident, we will implement of the following emergency response procedures:

Lockdown or Secure School

In situations involving an intruder or threat of violence near the campus the school will be locked down with all students and staff secured safely inside. Lockdown is the most secure and requires that everyone stays quiet and hidden inside locked buildings. Secure school requires everyone to stay locked inside school buildings but allows for continued operations as much as possible.

Duck and Cover

This action is taken to protect students and staff from falling debris and is most commonly used for earthquakes. Duck and cover requires everyone to duck under a desk or table and cover their head with their hands. This position is then held until the shaking stops and the area is stable.

Evacuation

When it is unsafe for students and staff to stay inside the building then everyone will evacuate to a safe location. This may be an alternate location on campus like the playground or athletic field. At times the entire campus may not be safe and everyone will be evacuated to an off-site location. Following an off-campus evacuation, parents will receive information on the location and instructions for picking up their child(ren). Each school has identified their on and off campus evacuation sites in their school emergency response plan.

What can parents do to help ensure the safety of students during emergencies?

If an incident occurs, it is only natural for parents and caregivers to want to rush to the school. However, doing this will often complicate a school-based incident and may interfere with the work of school personnel and emergency responders.

You can help manage a crisis situation by following these steps:

Remain Calm

Do your best to cooperate with school and public safety officials. Follow any instructions you may receive regarding your student.

Keep Roads Clear

Do not come to the school as that may interfere with the response efforts and put you in harms way. Traffic or parking congestion could block access to the school for critical resources like police, fire or emergency medical responders.

Keep Phone Lines Open

Do not call the school office. Excessive phone calls could jam the phone system and hamper emergency communications.

Do not call your student if he or she has a cell phone. The circuits you are using may be essential for the emergency response.

Monitor the communications channels identified by your school site such as websites or radio stations.

Be Patient

Students will be released to parents and guardians, or emergency contact persons as soon as possible.
